MEMORANDUM FOR: Director of Central IntelligenceSUBJECT : Use of Journalists in the Next Advanced Intelligence Seminar

1. Your approval is requested to invite two journalists to speak to the next Advanced Intelligence Seminar which will begin on 19 May.

2. We would like to invite James J. Kilpatrick and Carl T. Rowan, both syndicated columnists, to discuss the subject, "Domestic Politics and Foreign Policy." Carl Rowan spoke to the previous Advanced Intelligence Seminar on 6 March 1972. Kilpatrick was scheduled to appear with Rowan but had to cancel at the last moment. If possible, we will have both appear, forming a panel, on the same day, 15 May, at Headquarters.

JAMES JACKSON KILPATRICK

Columnist, Washington Star

James Jackson Kilpatrick received his bachelor degree in journalism from the University of Missouri in 1941 and later that year, joined the staff of the Richmond (Va.) News Leader as a reporter. Two years later, Mr. Kilpatrick was promoted to head of the News Leader's Washington staff, a position he held until 1948. Later, he became associate editor of the newspaper and its chief editorial writer, and finally editor. Honored by the University of Missouri for distinguished service in journalism, Mr. Kilpatrick also holds an award for editorial writing from the Sigma Delta Chi, the professional journalism society, and has served as chairman of the National Conference of Editorial Writers. His books include THE SOVEREIGN STATES and THE SOUTHERN CASE FOR SCHOOL EDUCATION.

Mr. Kilpatrick's column is now being distributed to newspapers around the country by the Washington Star Syndicate, and is printed in 155 newspapers.

In panel discussions, he generally presents the Conservative view.

Syndicated Columnist

Carl T. Rowan was born in Ravenscroft, Tenn. on 11 August 1925. He served as an ensign in the USNR in WW II. His numerous degrees include an A.B. in Mathematics, Oberlin College, 1947; M.A. in Journalism, Univ. of Minn., 1948; D. Litt., Simpson College, 1957; and LHD, 1964.

He was a copywriter for the Minneapolis Tribune, 1948-50; staff writer 1950-61; Dep. Asst. Sec. State for Public Affairs, Dept. of State, 1961-63; US Amb. to Finland, Helsinki, 1963-64; Dir. USIA, Washington 1964-65; Columnist Chicago Daily News, Pubs. Newspaper Syndicate, 1965.

Numerous awards include: Sidney Hoffman award for best newspaper reporting, 1952; selected one of 10 outstanding young men of America, US Jr. Chamber of Commerce, 1954; award for best general reporting on segregation cases pending before US Supreme Court, Sigma Delta Chi, 1954; Foreign Correspondent Medallion for articles on SE Asia, coverage of Bamberg Conf., 1956; Nat'l. Brotherhood Award, Nat'l. Conference of Christians and Jews, 1964; Ann. So. Regional Press Inst. Award, 1965; Liberty Bell Award, Howard U., 1965.

He authored SOUTH OF FREEDOM (named to ALA ann. list of best books), 1953; THE PITIFUL AND THE PROUD (ALA annul list of best books), 1956; GO SOUTH TO SORROW, 1957; WAIT TILL NEW YEAR, 1960.

Mr. Rowan's column appears in 150 newspapers.
